

Text Collection: Mantras and Hymns

Compiled by R.M.

This document collects traditional mantras and hymns in their original scripts with IAST transliteration and literal English translations.

Contents

1	Editorial Notes	2
2	Vedic Mantras	3
3	Post-Vedic / Puranic Mantras	4
4	Stotra / Nāmāvalī (Hymns of Names)	6
5	Shabad (Gurmukhi / Sikh Tradition)	7

1 Editorial Notes

All translations in this collection are intentionally literal. They reproduce the grammatical meaning of the original text without adding interpretive ideas not explicitly present in the Sanskrit or Gurmukhi sources.

Artificial intelligence tools (ChatGPT) were used to assist with grammar clarification, literal phrasing, and transliteration, under human review and correction. Editorial choices, formatting, and final interpretations remain the responsibility of the compiler.

Brief historical notes (e.g. period, textual origin) are provided when known and remain strictly descriptive.

Translations and notes are prepared with careful attention to literal accuracy, but they may contain unintentional errors or omissions. This collection is not intended as an authoritative scholarly edition; it is a learning resource compiled in good faith.

2 Vedic Mantras

Gāyatrī Mantra

गायत्री मन्त्रः

IAST: gāyatrī mantraḥ

Literal: The Gāyatrī Mantra.

Original Script	IAST	Literal Translation
ॐ भूर्भुवः स्वः	Om bhūr bhuvaḥ svaḥ	Om — invoking earth, atmosphere and heaven.
तत्सवितुर्वरेण्यं	tat savitur vareṇyaṃ	That radiance of Savitṛ, worthy of reverence,
भर्गो देवस्य धीमहि	bhargo devasya dhīmahi	the divine effulgence on which we meditate,
धियो यो नः प्रचोदयात्	dhiyo yo naḥ pracodayāt	may it stimulate our intellects.

Notes.

- bhūr = "earth"
- bhuvaḥ = "atmosphere / life-realm"
- svaḥ = "heaven / luminous realm"
- The three terms form an invocation and do not constitute a sentence.
- Used as a prefatory recitation line before the Gāyatrī in later ritual traditions.
- Savitṛ = solar deity, source of wisdom/illumination
- bhargavaḥ = purifying radiance (not "light" literally)
- dhīmahi = "we meditate" (1st person plural, optative nuance)
- pracodayāt = optative "may it impel / guide"
- Verse from Ṛgveda 3.62.10, traditionally attributed to the sage Viśvāmitra.

3 Post-Vedic / Puranic Mantras

Lokāḥ Samastāḥ Sukhino Bhavantu

लोकाः समस्ताः सुखिनो भवन्तु

Original Script	IAST	Literal Translation
लोकाः समस्ताः सुखिनो भवन्तु	Lokāḥ samastāḥ sukhino bhavantu	May all worlds be happy.

Notes.

- Lokāḥ = "worlds"
- samastāḥ = "all"
- sukhino = "in happiness"
- bhavantu = optative "may they be"
- Modern liturgical sentence; not found in the Vedas, Upaniṣads, or Purāṇas.
- In widespread use since the 19th century in South Indian temple traditions (especially within Śāṅkara lineages).

Śrī Aurobindo's Gāyatrī Mantra

श्री अरविन्दस्य गायत्री

IAST: śrī aravindasya gāyatrī

Literal: The Gayatrī of Śrī Aurobindo.

Original Script	IAST	Literal Translation
ॐ तत् सवितुर् वरं रूपं	om̐ tat savitur varam rūpaṁ	Om̐ — that supreme form of Savitṛ
ज्योतिः परस्य धीमहि	jyotir parasya dhīmahi	we meditate on the radiance of the Supreme
यो नः सत्यान् दीपयेत्	yo naḥ satyena dīpayet	may it illumine us through truth

Notes.

- Savitṛ = impelling solar power (Vedic deity, not physical sun)
- jyotis = "radiance / spiritual light"
- dīpayet = optative "may it illuminate"
- Post-Vedic liturgical adaptation associated with the Integral Yoga tradition.

Om̐ klīm ātmane namaḥ

ॐ क्लीं आत्मने नमः

Original Script	IAST	Literal Meaning
ॐ क्लीं आत्मने नमः	Om̐ klīm ātmane namaḥ	Salutations to the Self.

Notes.

- klīm = bīja (seed sound), non-lexical; ritually linked to attraction/devotional śakti.
- ātmane = "to the Self" (dative singular of ātman).
- namaḥ = "salutations"/"reverence."
- Translation reflects only lexical content; interpretive associations of the bīja are noted separately.
- Occurs in later Tantric devotional practice, not in Vedic or early classical sources.

4 Stotra / Nāmāvalī (Hymns of Names)

स्तोत्र-नामावली

Dvādaśa-Nāmāni (Twelve Names of Sūrya)

सूर्यस्य द्वादशनामानि

IAST: sūryasya dvādaśa-nāmāni

Literal: The Twelve Names of Sūrya.

Original Script	IAST	Literal Meaning
ॐ मित्राय नमः	Om mitrāya namaḥ	Salutations to Mitra (the benevolent one)
ॐ रवये नमः	Om ravaye namaḥ	Salutations to Ravi (the shining one)
ॐ सूर्याय नमः	Om sūryāya namaḥ	Salutations to Sūrya (the sun)
ॐ भानवे नमः	Om bhānave namaḥ	Salutations to Bhānu (the radiant one)
ॐ खगाय नमः	Om khagāya namaḥ	Salutations to Khaga (the sky-mover)
ॐ पुष्णे नमः	Om puṣṇe namaḥ	Salutations to Puṣan (the nourisher)
ॐ हिरण्यगर्भाय नमः	Om hiraṇyagarbhāya namaḥ	Salutations to Hiraṇyagarbha (the golden seed)
ॐ मरीचये नमः	Om marīcaye namaḥ	Salutations to Marīci (the ray)
ॐ आदित्याय नमः	Om ādityāya namaḥ	Salutations to Āditya (son of Aditi)
ॐ सवित्रे नमः	Om savitre namaḥ	Salutations to Savitr (the impelling force)
ॐ अर्काय नमः	Om arkāya namaḥ	Salutations to Arka (heat / radiance)
ॐ भास्कराय नमः	Om bhāskarāya namaḥ	Salutations to Bhāskara (the light-maker)

Notes.

- namaḥ + dative form means "reverential salutations to X."
- Names denote functional aspects of solar luminosity, not separate deities.
- Traditional liturgical recitation; regional variations exist.

5 Shabad (Gurmukhi / Sikh Tradition)

ਸ਼ਬਦ (ਗੁਰਮੁਖੀ / ਸਿੱਖ ਪਰੰਪਰਾ)

Re Man Shabad (Rāga Rāmkalī)

ਰੇ ਮਨ ਸ਼ਬਦ (ਰਾਗ ਰਾਮਕਲੀ)

IAST: re man śabad (rāga rāmkalī)

Literal: The "Re Man" hymn in Rāga Rāmkalī.

Original Script	IAST	Literal Translation
ਰੇ ਮਨ ਏਹ ਬਿਧਿ ਜੋਗੁ ਕਮਾਓ ॥	re man ehi bidh yog kamāo	O mind, practice union by this method.
ਸੀਘੀ ਸਾਚਿ ਇਕਪਤ ਕੰਠਾਲਾ ॥	sīṅghī sāci ekapaṭ kanthālā	Fasten truth firmly as your single necklace.
ਧਿਆਨਿ ਭੀਭੂਤਿ ਚੜ੍ਹਾਓ ॥	dhyāni bhībūt chaṛhāo	Apply meditation like sacred ash.
ਤਾਤੀ ਗਰੈ ਆਤਮ ਬਸੁ ਕਰਿ ॥	tātī gahai ātam basu kari	Grasp the heat; establish control of the self.
ਬਿਛਾਓ ਨਾਮ ਅਧਾਰੰਗ ॥	bichhāo nām adhāraṅg	Spread the Name as your foundation.
ਬਾਜੇ ਪਰਮ ਤਾਰ ਤਤੁ ਹਰਿ ਕਾ ॥	bāje param tār tatu har kā	The supreme string of the Divine essence resounds.
ਉਪਜੈ ਰਾਗ ਰਸਾਰੰਗ ॥	upajai rāg rasāraṅg	A melody of essence arises.
ਉਘਟੈ ਤਾਨ ਤਰੰਗ ਰੰਗ ਅਤੇ ਗਿਆਨੁ ਗੀਤੁ ਬੰਦਾਨੰਗ ॥	ughaṭai tān taraṅg raṅg atai giānu gīt bandānang ॥	Tones, waves, and colors unfold, and knowledge is bound in song.
ਚਕਿ ਚਕਿ ਰਹਿ ਦੇਵ ਦਾਨਵ ਮੁਨਿ ॥	chak chak rahahi dev dānav mūni	Gods, demons, and sages remain absorbed.
ਛਕਿ ਛਕਿ ਬਿਓਮ ਬਿਵਾਨੰਗ ॥	chhak chhak biom bivānang	Immersed repeatedly in the vast expanse.
ਆਤਮ ਉਪਦੇਸੁ ਭਗਤਿ ਸੰਜਮੁ ॥	ātam upades bhagat sanjam	Self-instruction is devotion and discipline.
ਜਾਪੁ ਸੋ ਅਜਪਾ ਜਾਪੈ ॥	jāp so ajapā jāpai	The unspoken mantra is naturally recited.
ਸਦਾ ਰਹੈ ਕੰਜਨ ਸੀ ਕਾਇਆ ॥	sadā rahai kanjan sī kāyā	The body remains as pure as gold.
ਕਾਲੁ ਨ ਕਬਹੂ ਬਿਆਪੈ ॥	kāl na kabahū biyāpai	Death never approaches.

Notes.

- 16th-century Sikh hymn attributed to Guru Nānak (SGGS 921, Rāga Rāmkalī).
- Literal translation is grammatical, not interpretive.
- The vocative re man directly addresses one's own mind ("O mind").
- Not a yogic technique text; imagery refers to inner discipline.
- Chanting Version (phonetic, as recited):

Ray man eh bidh jog kamao

Singhee saach akapat kanthala
Dhiaan bibhoot charhaao
Taatee gaho aatam bas kar kee
Bichaa naam adhaarang
Baaje param taar tat har ko
Upajay raag rasaarang
Ughatay taan tarang rang atay giaan geet bandhaanang
Chak chak rahay dayv daanav mun
Chhak chaak biyom bivaanang
Aatam upadays bhays sanjam ko
Jaap so ajapa jaapay
Sada rahay kanchan si kaya
Kaal na kabahoo byaapay.